

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The New York, Newfoundland, and London Telegraph Company announces its plan of reuniting in the best manner and with the best material the present connecting line across Newfoundland, and of building two other land lines, which will insure unbroken communication between the United States and Great Britain.

A remarkable-looking person attended the jubilee of the Italian Opera, in Paris, the other evening. He had on a cravat completely covered with diamonds. The noble gentleman, as might be expected, turned out not to be of the upper ten, but a keeper of a cafe.

A Bostonian, writing from Rome, says he has met the only living descendant of Christopher Columbus. The modern Columbus is a fine old Italian swell, and possesses, among other things, a relic, a genuine portrait of Christopher Columbus.

The reports from the Turkish provinces, Asiatic and European, of the cotton crop, are most favorable, especially of that grown from America, which this year will be a great success.

A London correspondent describes Swinburne, the poet, as physically a Tom Thumb slightly exaggerated; but, fiery, a magazine, with the look and bearing of a man who could make himself extremely disagreeable in an encounter.

Count Bismarck's work, "Mittheilungen über die deutsche Politik," is tipped by the title of new journal published in Berlin, entitled "Bismarcksche Mittheilungen."

In Pittsburg, Pa., a few days since, a lady left her infant of three days old sleeping in her chamber while she proceeded to attend to her household duties in an adjoining room. Hearing a piercing scream from the direction of the chamber, she hastened to the side of the cot, where she discovered her child in a large rat leap from it and disappear in a close.

On examining the child, she found that the rat had bitten the infant's arm, and that the rat had been in the room for three of the fingers of the right hand, rendering it necessary to amputate them.

M. Saline, one of the best actors of the Lyons Theatre, made his reappearance recently, and for some unknown reason was received with a storm of hisses, which, however, was soon changed to genuine applause. But, alas! too late; the blow was struck. The poor player could never get over his undignified disgrace, and died broken hearted a few days since.

The Newburyport Herald told a story of a newly-married couple who attended a launch in that city. A staging gale way and let the gentleman into the water. Before he was rescued his wife came off, and floated away. When he was pulled out, laid and drenched, his wife refused to recognize him, and he was obliged to flee, and that he would save his husband, pointing frantically to a bunch of hair drifting down the tidal.

The local of the Indianapolis Herald hints it whispered that travelers are actually and positively worn, not exactly a flou, but to avoid the exposure consequent upon it.

These trousers, it is said, will be worn with elastic at the ankles, and are to be made of taffeta, the same shade of the short-uncut put.

In time, when it is adopted with the use of "ulcers."

DECEASED'S ESTATE.—In the Supreme Court of Connecticut there has recently been decided a curious case. A man and his wife having been killed by a railroad accident, the heirs of each brought suit and recovered $4000 in damages. The money obtained for the death of the wife went to her heirs, and the question before the Supreme Court was whether the $4000 recovered by the heirs of the wife was to go to his or his wife's heirs. She having survived him a few hours, the court decided that the wife's heirs should have the money.

SMITH'S PRO'S VINDICATION.—It will be remembered that Sir Morton Peto, in addition to his financial embarrassments, was charged with the murder of a man, and was recently before the court on this charge. He recently went before his constituents at Bristol, England, claiming that he might have been foolish in his efforts to sustain that charge, but that he had not been dishonest. His constituents at that meeting passed a resolution deprecating his explanation satisfactory.

TRAMWAY ACCIDENT.—On Saturday morning Mr. George Utter, a Frenchman of Vigo county, Ind., met with a terrible accident. He was examining his rifle, and, in order to ascertain its range, he placed one foot on the hammer and the muzzle of the gun in his mouth. His foot slipped from the hammer, and a bullet went through his head, and he was killed. The cause of the accident was a foolish superstition.
